Decorah group tours Vincent House

A group from Decorah, Iowa, as part of the International Questers, a preservation and history enthusiasts organization, toured the home of Dan and Amy Estep at 11th and Cass Street in La Crosse on November 2nd. Approximately 15 people, who had come from a fabulous tour of the Hixon House, were able to see how another La Crosse lumber baron lived.

The James Vincent House at 1024 Cass St, is a brick Italianate house built in 1884 for lumber baron James Vincent. It remained in the Vincent family until the 1990s, and the Esteps are the third family to ever own the house. They have lovingly restored the house and it has become a true show-piece in La Crosse. Thanks to the Questers for their generation donation to PAL in honor of Dan and Amy Estep!
